Describe your personality and character:	I am a very driven and passionate person. When I set a goal for myself, I won't rest until it is accomplished. On a daily basis, that includes lists and tasks. On a larger basis, that includes the college of my choice, the option to study abroad and currently my career choice. In the work place, I am decisive and confident. I am passionate about building my business and empowering my team. I love to win and work hard each day to be better than yesterday and set the foundation for tomorrow. In my private life, I am the essence of an introvert. After a day's work, I like to come home and recharge. Sometimes this means cooking dinner, reading a book or running on the treadmill. I have three best friends; two of which I have known for over ten years. I cherish my friendships and am thankful everyday that I have been blessed with them. I grew up in a Christian School and was raised in the church. The values I learned as a child have become the foundation that I live my life on.
How would you describe your childhood?	I had a good childhood. I am the middle child of three and we are all about ten years apart. Because of the age difference, my playmates were my two cousins and friends from school. As a family we would spend the summers at the beach, where my grandparents lived. My whole family is very close and have kept our traditions such as a Crab Party in the summer and a Christmas Eve Party alive each year.
What's your favorite childhood memory?	This might not be my favorite, but it definitely is the strongest and the beginning of some of my favorite memories. I met one of my best friends, Aubrey, in pre-school. I can still remember the first time I went to her house, our first play date and the moment we both realized how completely in love with Barbies we both were. That first play date was the beginning of a life long friendship.
Who has been the most influential person in your life?	I don't just have one person that is an influential person in my life, but two - my grandparents. My mother's mom and life, and why?	dad had the greatest relationship and strongest love I have ever seen two people have. Their love story starts in the early fifties where my grandmother signed up to write letters to the men in the war. Her pen pal went on to be the love of her life. They went on to have five children, be married for over fifty years and be the most influential love story to the entire family. When asked at their 50th wedding anniversary celebration what the secret was, they said "trust" and "never going to bed angry with each other". So simple and yet, so true.

What awards/accomplishments are you and your family most proud of?	My sister and I were the first and second of our family to graduate college. She is finishing up her graduate degree and I have plans to start mine soon. This was a big accomplishment for me. I went to the school of my choice, excelled in my studies and studied abroad in Italy - a place I had always dreamed of living.
Describe some of your hobbies and interests:	I love to learn. When I lived in Italy, my favorite thing to do was explore the city and meet different people. Cultures fascinate me, moreover, for their opinions. What people think and why has always interested me. Being able to live in a brand new country and assimilate myself into their culture was the perfect storm of my hobbies and interests. I also love to read, watch movies and play card games.
What sports or activities have you excelled in?	I would have to describe myself as a "jack of all trades but a master of none". In school I played field hockey and ran cross country. I played the flute in band and took piano lessons. On the weekends I took horse back riding lessons and competed in several shows but I never excelled in just one area.
Describe any artistic/musical talents you have:	My father is extremely talented in the arts, and although I can play the flute and the piano - that gene passed me and went directly to my little brother.
What are your future goals?	To love and be loved, to be happy and fulfilled. To never stop thirsting for knowledge and never be complacent in my career.
